Cancer in the Family: Resources for Clinicians

Treating Individuals and Families Facing Life-Threatening & Chronic Illness

Michael States, MFT

Learn how you can assist current and future clients with psychosocial stressors facing patients, families, and friends after a life-threatening and chronic illness is diagnosed. Leave with a better understanding of how to identify treatment issues and possible solutions to the emotional state of flux. Learn about free support groups & education programs for the clients in your practice.

Michael States, MFT, Clinical Program Director of The Wellness Community-WLA for 19 years, utilizes her 22 years experience in the application of visualization and guided imagery as tools for pain & stress management. She is a frequent lecturer and has a private practice in Pacific Palisades.
